Oceans of Consolation

Oceans of Consolation

"This volume provides a fascinating glimpse into the lives and attitudes of Irish migrants to the Seven Colonies of Australasia in the 19th century. Fitzpatrick presents a richly textured and nuanced reading of 111 letters between emigrants and 'the old country,' telling us much not only about the aspirations of emigrants, their successes and disappointments, but also about the culture and style of the correspondence itself. A substantial contribution to both Irish and Australian history."--Virginia Quarterly Review

Darren Perez:

As a university student, I exactly feel bored in order to read. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or make a summary for some book, they are complained. Just minor students that have reading's internal or real interest. They just do what the instructor wants, like asked to go to the library. They go to presently there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and can't see colorful pictures on there. Yeah, it is getting complicated. Book is very important for you. As we know that on this time, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise, word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore, this Oceans of Consolation can make you really feel more interested to read.
